Serial Para Stockbase 15 On July 1st 2017 I added a photo of the part of the serial to see what it looks like, and it has the following serial number . Serial Para Stockbase 15 In the second picture you can see that it was on the right side in the yellow box. Now that it's been used for a year or so, can someone tell me what serial number it is from? Thanks in advance. A: A photo with the stamp will be best. From one of the pictures it does not look like a patch type, but more like a full sticker type. With the stamp as the sender it would be easier to check with the dealer. It seems to be the following sticker: The serial number is not easy to read because it is on the wrong side. The serial number starts with # and continues with the country code "39". In the middle there are two short lines of numbers. The first one has two digits, the second one one digit. The first one has to be 9 in this case. It is a bit tricky to recognize the correct reading for this. It is possible to read the serial number as: 939 091 066 059 062 659 Explanation: 939 is the first short line of numbers, next to the country code. 91 is the second short line of numbers. 066 is the first long line of numbers. 062 is the second long line of numbers. 067 is the next short line of numbers. 059 is the next short line of numbers. 064 is the next long line of numbers. 065 is the next short line of numbers. 060 is the last long line of numbers. 067 is the next short line of numbers. The numbers have the following meaning: The first two numbers are the day of the month the part was assembled. The first two numbers of the second line are the month. The last digit is the year. The rest of the line is the serial number. "2009" in the serial number is the year. The found pattern suggests that you get each year one unit. So, in this case you would get

Add To Quote I am sending this email to find out if you can provide me with the different serial numbers to see if they match the gun in picture and also the serial numbers to see if they match. The gun is at this address: I am being told that I need the serial number and make. I am looking for them to match the gun in the picture. I would also like to know if they could send me the part number of the stock base so I could order the part online. I will be sending you an email with a pic of the gun. I am being told it has a TM1 but not sure if that matters. I just would like to make sure of the match and if there is any issue. If you require any additional information, please contact me on the email address below. Regards. A: Hi Robert L. I have a list of TM1 serial numbers per caliber. You can have them emailed to you or print them off. No charge. I also have the part 2d92ce491b
